It depends on what the law is at your location. In Germany, Apple's EULA (in this agreement you have to accept macOS not to be used on non-Apple Hardware) is not clearly valid, so we buy a licence of SL from Apple and "upgrade" to newer versions. Hackintoshing will "work" as well if you don't have a valid license, but that is not allowed by law (again, depends on your country) and you commit software piracy then and we cannot support illegal behavior in this forum.
