can i do it by terminal command

I already told you how to do it if you have a different working system on the same computer:

Boot into a working system (like a sierra installation), go to system preferences --> startvolume and select Mojave as a startvolume. Then restart and you should have a boot entry for Mojave Otherwise, browse through the partitions mentioned in shell and use ls to determine which partition Mojave uses. You can definitely find it out, you just have to dig a little...
