Keine Ahnung was du wieder liest, aber steht immer noch das MacOS vorinstalliert wird.

THE SOLUTION: OCC VELOCIRAPTOR

We've come up with a range of zero-compromise Hackintoshes that come preinstalled with macOS Catalina and Windows 10 Pro. The first to be released is Velociraptor, which you can configure and buy now. The Velociraptor comes with up to 16 CPU Cores, 64GB RAM and a Vega VII GPU all in a portable package – the 150L case even has a handle for easy transportation.

If you need even more power...coming soon to the OpenCore Computer (OCC) lineup is the T-Rex & Megalodon series, which provide AMD Thread Ripper options allowing up to 64 CPU cores, and a whopping 256GB RAM.

Each model in the OCC line-up leverages the unparalleled performance and value offered by the new Ryzen line of CPUs to provide you with a zero compromise workstation capable of handling any task you throw at it, be it on Windows or macOS.

No surprise, we've chosen the OpenCore bootloader to provide a rock-solid native macOS experience. Alternatively, choose Windows 10 pro at start-up and have the discrete SSD boot you into the Windows desktop within seconds.

und man kann immer noch unter Build now ne kiste zusammenstellen.
