Proper catalina and big sur support has been added with beta 3, so i reccommend all the people to just use the latest beta and, to avoid the bug, just moove it to the desktop before opening it, because apparently the desktop is threated differently from other folders in terms of sandboxing, this issue is being worked on and it will be at least improoved with beta 4

HAI in your previous post you were using a version from 2017 which was coded poorly (respect to how i write code now) so go to github and grab the latest version of TINU (3.0 beta 3): https://github.com/ITzTravelInTime/TINU/releases

HAI Checks for installer app size and volume size will be added with BETA 4, those are currently tested and working and all the info in the app have been updated, i just need to update the github documentation when i release the beta
