I can't kinda don't understand how to make iGPU work properly and my searching parties did not evaluate in any success.

Maybe someone had any luck with making p4600 woking like 4600?

While i used Oz, i just turned off iGPU because of complications of masking and making it work considering that time to time i had to update.

Right now i understand that there's should be masking included, but nothing specific on this topic.
