Harvey.S Is English your first language? In your speech above there are so many mixed messages.

Yes, actually in Amsterdam. But I do business as a lawyer internationally.

And I found out about this from a young German colleague because he, too, was always banned when he said the truth. He said that he didn't like it when young inexperienced people, who had little idea of the Hackintosh subject, still portrayed long-time people who were really competent as liars, or labeled them as incompetent.

Maybe it was the same with the @ DSM2, which I and my German friends really appreciate.
