Also I usually use to update my system to whatever is available But I always have a system that I am sure it is working correctly. With these beta of Monterey 12.3.x it happens that there is no longer the possibility of using OSX productively and with all the betas I've used over time, it's the first time this has happened to me And this seems anomalous to me on Apple's part, they can usually get a beta wrong but then somehow they fix it.

here we are now in beta 4 and we have the same problems as in Beta 1 if not worse!
