in another thread they advise me to learn how to read..so I'm a bit afraid to write here in English which is not my language 😊

wu ming if you are using a system superior to BiguSur the network kext seems strange to me that it works correctly for i211

If that's the case we have to revise a bit the last things written over the years 😊

I'm glad your system is working almost fine though

You can maybe avoid the ncpi bootarg if you can find and activate the 4G entry in your bios but always make a backup before making changes
